

Princess

There are those who say that fate is something beyond our command, that destiny is not our own, but I know better. Our fate lives within us; you only have to have the courage, be brave enough to see it and, always be kind. Where there is kindness there is goodness, and where there is goodness, there is magic. This has helped me to find my voice, my spirit and my true self.